

Phi Alpha Theta Regionals

Kelly Elliott <kelly.elliott@acu.edu>

4/16/1

2

to Allan, Tracy, Vernon, Mark, Fred

Hello all,

I just wanted to let you know that our students did a very fine job presenting at the Phi Alpha Theta Regional Conference in Commerce on Saturday. Hannah Cunningham, Luke Morgan, and Jesse Backfisch all presented papers they had written in Recent Europe that placed major literary works by Iris Murdoch, Kurt Vonnegut, and Simone de Beauvoir, respectively, into their historical context. They received some good questions and answered them well. For all of them, this was their first history conference. Tyler Sparks also came with us and provided moral support. They were a delight to travel with--we should all be quite proud of them.

Vernon and Tracy, both of you were much asked after by the other faculty. Everyone was particularly concerned to hear that you were sick, Vernon, and relieved to hear that you were only dealing with a bad head cold or something of that nature. Next year's meeting will be at Midwestern State in Wichita Falls.

best wishes!

Kelly

--

Dr. Kelly Elliott
Assistant Professor of History
Abilene Christian University