Dear Dr. Cha,

Congratulations on a job well done! You are in an esteemed group of teachers and mentors recognized this year by one or more of your students as having made a significant impact on their lives.

One of the annual projects managed by the ACU Stewardship office is to contact each and every student who received a scholarship funded by an endowment. The students are given information about the endowment and the donors who made their scholarship a reality and are asked to respond by filling out a questionnaire and writing a letter of gratitude.

Embedded in the questionnaire is a statement for them to complete that reads, "An ACU Professor who has impacted my life in extraordinary ways is..." and that's where YOUR name was mentioned:

Dr. Kilnam Cha. He is an extraordinary professor that pushes his students to extend their knowledge and to reach for excellence. He is a great Christian role model and leads by example. He exemplifies what a great Christian teacher is and is enthusiastic about the classes he teaches. (Lexi)

One ACU professor that impacted me personally was Dr. Kilnam Cha, who teaches Bible. I needed an extra class one semester to reach the number of credit hours I needed to obtain my financial aid. I picked one of Dr. Cha's Bible classes because I enjoyed my other Bible class earlier in my freshman year. I enjoyed his class enough to where I took an extra Bible class on top of my other one. He just seemed to embody what a good Christian strives to be and was very inspiring for me to watch and listen to. His life encouraged me that no matter what, it is important to stay faithful to God, and that everything will fall into place. (Jared)

Dr. Cha, I had him for Acts-Revelation and he really challenged our thinking. (Jerry)

Kilnam Cha. His main book is the Bible. There are other classes that focus on commentaries and the opinions of other people, but professor Cha's class is focused mainly around the Bible. We read passages of the Bible for every class period and elaborated during class. The personal readings have taught me a lot about God and have strengthened my relationship with Him. (Kendra)

You are to be applauded for using your God-given talents to touch lives that will continue in journeys around the world, for demonstrating Christ's love inside and outside the classroom, and for providing the highest level of academic standards that will enable your students to be successful in the "real world." ACU is blessed to have you on our team!

Thank YOU for being an important part of "The ACU Difference."

With sincere appreciation,
