

Abilene Christian University
Department of Political Science

POLS 221 Government and Business
Student Learning Outcomes

Students will understand the United States political system and the institutions of government that create and implement business policy

Students will understand the complex relationship between the public and private sector from a regulatory perspective

Students will understand the contemporary social and economic issues and policy making process that affect government and business

Students will understand the evolving relationship of government and business including the impact of multinational corporations