2. For combined undergraduate/graduate courses, make two lists:
 - a. full publication information; label Undergraduate.

IV. Supporting Documentation

Supporting documents must accompany proposal prior to preliminary approval by chair and dean.

1	Library — Submit new course application and syllabus to the Dean of the Library. Consult with the director and establish a deadline for completion of the library report. Attach the signed copy of the Library report.
2	Instructional Design — The application and syllabus must be reviewed by the Adams Center. Attach a copy of the Adams Center Review Letter.
3	Content Overlap — Include one document for each course you listed in Section I-I. Attach statement from instructor/dept chair of existing course justifying the new offering.
4	Departmental Resources — List the resources that support the course and are available only through the department, if applicable. Attach the list of the holdings and the location/s.
5	Resources — List resources (other than library or departmental resources) that are needed to support this course (computers, lab equipment, other technology, etc.). Attach a complete list of all items and indicate possible sources or estimated cost of each. List the sources of any needed funds.
6	Expenses — List additional expenses needed to implement this course (full-time or part-time faculty, graduate or lab assistants, student employees, travel, special student costs, room renovation, storage facility, etc.). Attach a complete list of all items, the estimated cost of each and the source of the funds.
7	Justification — Attach all documents referred to in Section II-2
8	Syllabus — Attach the syllabus for the course based upon the anticipated first-semester offering.
9	Provide documentation for all additional attachments here

V. Preliminary Approvals

All supporting documentation has been assembled and attached to this application. I believe this course is ready to be presented to appropriate councils. We have a plan to fund this new course.

3:00/Thursdays 9:30-10:30

Required Texts: Criminal Procedure, by John L. Worrall (Justice Series Version, 2013) and Beckham, D. (2008). Traffic Stops. (2008 ed.) Austin, TX: Texas District and County Attorneys Association.

Supplemental Assigned Readings: There will be a need to reference the Texas Penal Code, Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, or the Federal Criminal Code and Rules periodically. Provisions will be made for you to use available resources either on-line or at ACU to accomplish those relevant reading assignments. Additionally there will be other readings TBA during the semester. There are links at the end of this syllabus to assist you in tapping into US Constitutional law resources, Texas Codes and laws, or Federal laws as necessary.

Biblical Readings: Required for course- Bible - New Revised Standard Version (NRSV), Revised Standard Version (RSV), New King James Version (NKJV), American Standard Version (ASV), New American Standard Bible (NASB), or other literal English translation.

Suggested Texts or Websites: You will be using an American Psychological Association (APA) style format this fall in your work. If you want to purchase a copy of the APA Manual (available at ACU Bookstore in the Psychologically Section or online from Amazon and similar sources), that is fine or you can use websites like the Purdue OWL to assist you with style and formatting: <https://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/02/>

Mission of the University: The mission of Abilene Christian University is to educate its students for Christian service and leadership throughout the world.

Mission of the College of Arts and Sciences: Mission of the College of Arts and Sciences: The College of Arts and Sciences engages students with humanity's greatest ideas to create understanding, apply insights, and serve the world as Christian thinkers and problem solvers.

Mission of the Department of Political Science and Criminal Justice: The mission of the Department is to provide a program of study to help students understand domestic and international politics and law enforcement theory and practice, and to prepare students for informed and active participation in the political arena and in criminal justice careers.

Course Description: POLC 465 is a one semester three hour course studying arrest, search and seizure law with practical applications for criminal justice professionals. The law of arrest, search and seizure studied will primarily be generic rather than Texas specific, however practical exercises will be developed primarily with Texas law scenarios and the use of arrest and search warrant formats and related affidavits in Texas, both at the State and Federal level. The course should equip a successful student to understand basic core concepts of the importance of the United States Constitution and the evolution of arrest, search and seizure law, focusing the majority of the course on the current status of the law and how it impacts law enforcement personnel in practical settings. The course will also include an opportunity for students to use critical reasoning to apply a Christian or biblical worldview in most assignments and dialogue forums, including specific applications to criminal justice.

Prerequisites: POLC 205 or permission of the instructor, junior standing.

Student Learning Objectives (SLOs): Students will be able to:

	Competency	Measurement
1	Examine the purposes and functions of the procedural criminal law.	Dialogue discussions.
2	Identify the legal definition of crime.	Test 1.
3	Recognize and cite evidence for constitutional and procedural considerations affecting arrest, search and seizure.	Dialogue discussions, Tests 1-3.
4	Discuss critically the rules governing the admissibility of evidence and judicial decisions interpreting individual rights.	Dialogue discussions, Tests 1-3.
5	List and explain the relative amendments to the	Test 1.

	constitution which affect criminal procedure.
6	List and explain the pertinent case law and landmark decisions.	Tests 1-3.
7	Application of a Biblical worldview and critical reasoning in ethical and constitutional applications of arrest, search, and seizure law.	Dialogue discussions.
8	Draft a criminal complaint affidavit and relevant documents as well as a search warrant affidavit and related documents using the application of notional facts as minor and major projects.	Minor Project, Major Project.

Class Policies and Procedures: The class will combine lecture, class discussions, dialogue discussions in Black Board, assignments and scheduled exercises to facilitate learning. You are encouraged to participate fully in class discussions. It is essential you adequately prepare for each class meeting, which means that all students should diligently keep pace with the reading assignments. Lectures are designed as a springboard for discussion and interaction among class members.

Absence and Attendance Policy: Your presence at class sessions is important. Attendance will be checked each class meeting. Irregular attendance can result in a lower grade. Students who miss more than six (6) classes for unexcused reasons will be dropped from the course with a grade of WF. If you have an official university related activity excused absence, when possible, let the instructor know in advance. Communicate with the instructor about your schedule or an event that interferes with the challenges and journey of this course. The instructor reserves the right to grant exceptions to this mandatory drop provision for unique and compelling situations.

Special Needs (ADA): Abilene Christian University is dedicated to removing barriers and opening access for students with disabilities in compliance with ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. The Alpha Scholars Program facilitates disability accommodations in cooperation with instructors. In order to receive accommodations, you must be registered with Alpha Scholars Program, and you must complete a specific request for each class in which you need accommodations. If you have a documented disability and wish to discuss academic accommodations, please call the Alpha Scholars Program office directly at 325-674-2667.

Final Grades Will Be Based on the Following:

900-1,000 points =A

800-899 points =B

700-799 points =C

600-699 points =D

Below 600 points =F

Grade Composition: See the Syllabus Schedule built into this document or attached hereto for the weight and point value of assignments, tests, participation scores, and other class activities.

Failure to Take a Test or Participate in a Dialogue Forum: A failure to take a test or be responsive to an assignment or class exercise results in a zero point score for that activity unless the student meets the eligibility requirements to take a make-up test or alternative option for other required activities as described herein. It is the responsibility of the student to coordinate with the instructor to schedule the make-up test pursuant to the guidelines herein. Dialogue forum discussions end at the conclusion of the forum date for replies and no entry of a “post” or submission after the due date will be accepted, without very exceptional circumstances and approval of the instructor. When a dialogue forum is completed the value of participation in the discussion has ended.

Make-up Test or Test-Taking Policy: The privilege of making-up any form of testing will be reserved for “excused absences” for those encountering such problems as illness or other health and welfare issues, participation in official university activities, or death or serious illness in the family. Absences anticipated to be treated by the professor as “excused absences” must be capable of verification by the instructor or based on prior approval from the professor. Students have a duty to provide verification as requested by the instructor.

It is imperative the student provide the professor the justification for an excused absence either prior to the absence or within three (3) days of the absence (unless completely impractical to provide the justification within that time frame and in that event, as soon as a reasonable person would deem it practical). There may be “unique circumstances” in which advance coordination with the professor will allow a student to make-up a test that does not fit the criteria for an “excused absence” noted above. Such circumstances will only apply to matters addressed with the professor well in advance of the test and based on unique and compelling facts. Pre-approval and/or dialogue with the instructors are the keys for retaining the privilege to make-up a missed test based on the “unique circumstances” exception noted above.

A test of any type can be made-up for verified or professor approved reasons set forth in the prior two paragraphs. No tests scores will be dropped or excluded from grade calculation. Failure to take a test and/or make-up test (if authorized) will result in a zero for that test.

Make-up Test dates (other than the Final Exam): Make-up tests will be scheduled at specific time by announcement of the instructor to the student. Most tests will be accomplished in Black Board, therefore coordination and scheduling of a missed test must be accomplished through the instructor. If a student arrives late to any form of testing, including the Final Exam, the student will not be allowed to begin the test if another student has already completed the test in class. If the tardiness is the result of a reason meeting the definition for an excused absence, then an alternate time will be established for the student to take the test. However if the tardiness is not excused, the student will receive a zero on the test. An excused absence make-up for a Final Test will require coordination with the instructor.

An exception to any portion of the testing make-up policy will be based only on extremely unique and factually driven circumstances of extraordinary measure as determined by the instructor. The instructor reserves the right to make that determination at an appropriate time and event.

Make-up Assignments and Class Exercises will be authorized for the same reasons in which tests can be “made-up.” However the type of assignment or class exercise may not be well suited for typical make-up work. This will require coordination with the instructor and in many cases and alternate activity will be required of the student. It is the student’s duty to coordinate such matters with the instructor by documented early attempts to communicate with the instructor on suitable options for substituting work or completing these assignments in a timely manner.

 All dates, including reading assignments and test dates, are tentative and subject to change at the professor’s discretion. Any test date change will be announced at least one week in advance.

Late Assignments-Penalties: Any late assignment will be subject to a loss of points during grading for lateness unless otherwise approved by the instructor. Unless otherwise stated or presented to the class, the standard for a late assignment is a loss of 2 points per day for the first late day, 5 points for the second day, and 1 point per day thereafter. The only exception is for the Major Project (MP) due in Week 15. As a result of the need to complete grades, a penalty of 20 points per day may be enforced for the MP.

CELL PHONE POLICY: Turn your cell phone or other electronic device off or to SILENT during class. Do not use devices during class, unless the instructor authorizes such action. An exception would be a device used for note-taking and only in that mode. Otherwise keep cell phones out of sight. During a break you can use your electronic device, however before returning to the active class setting, it is your responsibility to turn off or silence the device and place it out of sight. First offense violations of this electronic device policy will result in a warning. Subsequent violations may result in a loss of course grade points on each occasion, depending solely on the instructor's determination of the level of distraction created by the device to the student, class or professor. The unauthorized use of such devices in class demonstrates a lack of respect for the learning environment. If you use an electronic device for note taking, limit its use to that purpose during class. A violation of this privilege will not only result in the loss of the privilege to use an electronic device in the classroom, but can result in a loss of grade points.

There is clear and convincing evidence human beings can live more than three hours at a time without access to a cell phone. The "Moses and Elijah Rule": If you have a clear emergency need to monitor your cell phone, such as you have been notified Moses and/or Elijah will be texting you during the class session to schedule a special spiritual meeting with you, notify this course instructor in advance of the class session and he will make arrangements for you to receive the urgent text or call.

Integrity: Academic integrity is defined as academic work completed as assigned for each class by the individual or group responsible for the work. Violations of academic integrity and other forms of cheating involve the intention to deceive, mislead, or misrepresent and therefore, are a form of lying. Such actions are contrary to behavioral norms that flow from the nature of God. Academic misconduct includes, but is not limited to, the following: 1) Failure to give credit to sources used in a work in an attempt to present the work as one's own, 2) Submission of papers or projects obtained from another source (e.g., research service or club paper file) as one's own, and 3) Falsifying information orally or in writing. Academic misconduct may result in, but is not limited to, a zero on the assignment and/or an F in the course. Additionally, the department chair, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Dean of Student Life will be notified. See the full university policy, including how to appeal a decision, by following this link: www.acu.edu/campusoffices/studentlife/judicialDocuments/AcademicIntegrityPolicy.pdf.

Re: POLC 365 Application

Dear Stuart,

The Adams Center for Teaching and Learning has completed the review of POLC 365: Search & Seizure. The syllabus was reviewed based on the ACU Syllabus Guidelines. The syllabus proposed meets or exceeds most of the expectations described in these guidelines.

Please give special attention to these items before submitting the syllabus to the Council.

- Please list the course code as listed in the catalog.
- Change the Course Description to reflect the course code as proposed rather than POLS 440.
- Please make it clear how each student learning objective will be assessed for mastery. Which readings/assignments/exams address each one? You could list the appropriate SLO's being addressed on the course schedule by each assignment, or list the assignments used for assessing each SLO in the section where they are listed. This will help students to keep the purpose of each assignment in mind as they learn.

There is no need to return the syllabus to the Adams Center for further review. Of course, if you would like to discuss these suggestions or any other aspect of your syllabus or instructional strategies, please contact me and we will schedule a time as soon as possible. We are here to serve you as you help prepare students for Christian service and leadership throughout the world.

Grace and Peace,
