¹ Councils may request additional information about “Information” items. These items are approved as “Consent Agenda.”

² The Dean and Department should respond to the Provost’s recommendation to close a program in writing. Advise & Respond (R) requires that the voting body should receive the written responses at least one week prior to the vote.

³ All courses that meet University Requirements for general education must go through UGEC. Courses or degrees offered only to students seeking teacher certification must go through the Teacher Education Council. All undergraduate changes must go before the UUAC. All graduate degree plan changes must go through the Graduate Council.

⁴ A minimum of 30 hours is required for a major. A maximum is specified for each degree (e.g., BA, BS). The university minimum for elective hours is 6, unless the requirements of external accrediting bodies make it impossible.

⁵ Program or course changes that apply to any major that includes Teacher Certification will be reviewed by the college, the Teacher Education Council (TEC), and then the UUAC.

⁶ Courses that satisfy ACU’s University Requirements (General Education) will normally have lower-level numbering, be free of prerequisites and co-requisites, appeal to more than one or two majors, and “not narrowly focus on those skills, techniques, and procedures specific to a particular occupation or profession” (SACS 2.7.3). Departments may request exceptions to the first three criteria.

⁷ The UUAC approved the clarification that “general requirements for graduation” means the enumerated items in the “General Requirements for Bachelor’s Degrees” section of the catalog.

Re: Proposal to alter the Approval Chart for Curriculum Changes

The term(s) in which a course is offered is included in the catalog description of most courses. In order to change a course rotation, departments currently must get approval at the department/school, college academic council, and dean levels before continuing as an information item at subsequent councils, the provost, and the president.

Providing the course rotation allows students to make plans that help their progress toward graduation and is an essential point of communication between our new centralized advising system and academic departments.

However, college academic council members are not in the best position to evaluate the implications of changing a course rotation, as questions of prerequisites or course offerings in multiple departments may be affected by the move of a single course. It's important that the university continue to coordinate course rotations, but they are materially different than the content of a course description.

We propose creating a new line on the Approval Chart for Curriculum Changes called Course term(s). Declaring a course as offered in spring, fall, as needed, etc., would be a separate item from Description (not affecting course content), where it currently resides.

The new course term(s) option would require approval at the department/school and dean levels but an information item at all other levels.

This change would allow departments and colleges to coordinate course offerings while providing notification throughout the university. It reduces confusion for departments about whether such a change has to be presented to councils, and it provides a mechanism to make sure course rotations are accurately represented in the catalog.
