Course Number: ECON 260: Principles of Macroeconomics

or Degree Plan(s):

The current prerequisite for ECON 260 is “24 earned hours.”

New prereq: 12 earned hours

The current prereq causes an issue for some of our first-semester students when they try to register to take ECON 260 in their second semester. If a student does not have 24 hours prior to registration, our advisors have to manually create an override to allow the student to register for the course. We would like to reduce the prereq to 12 earned hours. That would let any student who arrives at ACU with 12 hours of credit to register for ECON 260 without an override. By the time these students take the class in the spring semester, almost all of them will have 24 earned hours (the assumption is that most of them will pass at least 12 hours in the fall semester).

Theoretically, a student who brings in 12 or more hours could take ECON 260 in their first semester. Our academic advisors create the schedules for our first semester students and we will rely on our advisors to NOT put first-semester students in ECON 260 unless an exception needs to be made.

In practice, many students are registering for ECON 260 for their second semester anyway because they brought in a significant number of general education requirements or because they are saving some of those classes for Study Abroad. The only difference is that now our advisors are having to put in a manual override for each of these students. For the class that entered in the Fall 2025 semester, this change to the prereq would have allowed an additional 41 students to register for ECON 260 without needing a manual override from their advisor.

Notes

² Any change to a cross-listed course requires the signature of both department chairs or program directors overseeing the course to ensure that the courses stay in sync. This includes courses taught at other campuses (e.g. BIBL 101 and BIBO 101).

³ For undergraduate majors, a minimum of 30 hours is required. These programs must have a minimum of 6 elective hours, unless the requirements of external accrediting bodies make it impossible. Master's programs must include a minimum of 30 hours, and doctoral programs must include a minimum of 30 hours beyond the master's.

⁴ When a department/school or dean proposes closing a program, approval routing follows the typical process beginning with the department/school. An administrative proposal by the provost or senior vice president for academic affairs would follow the "provost-proposed" routing on the chart.
